

Video of chip performing image classification, facial recognition, voice recognition and command recognition at the same time

Brad Nold, Account Director, Gyrfalcon Technology

Demonstrating multiple model AI accelerator chips that include non-volatile memory and can be designed into Edge devices or used in data centers to support Cloud AI